Customized Software Development

Project: Label printing software
A leading manufacturer of bimetallic strips and heating elements.

Our client is a leading manufacturer of bimetallic strips and heating elements. They are a subsidiary of a Swedish company and are an ISO 9001 company.

The project includes the study, upgrade and implementation of a label printing software package originally developed by Kanthal AG, Sweden. This also includes a version change and the addition of additional and complex features.

The project development environment is Visual Basic, Microsoft Access and Windows 98.

With the full involvement and cooperation of the client, their requirements were translated into design documents. A lot of effort and attention was paid to the completeness and quality of the design. The software package was upgraded in line with quality standards and was completed on time, despite tight schedules.

The software package was upgraded in a record time of 2 weeks and implemented at Kanthal India. Customer has been using this package to its fullest potential and is very happy with the outcome of the project. With the handover of quality documentation and processes, the client is now in a position to manage their own software changes and upgrades.

"We wanted a solutions company that would not only change and upgrade our software package but would also provide us a better quality product that was easier to support, change and upgrade in the future. We were convinced that WiseSoft were the right people in taking up this assignment. We are happy that they have done an excellent job."
